"It is commendable that the case can be made with so few words using the lesson of learning from others. They are a testament to your contributions in the Quality profession"

Dr Robert Camp

Global Benchmarking Network

Most organizations have mastered Managing for Quality. This typically involves establishing a Quality Management System, and thereafter focusing on managing the value creation processes, support processes and supplier processes. All this is captured in specific standards for Business, Education and Healthcare. In fact, Managing for Quality has been commoditized by organizations, globally. It is no longer a differentiator.

The differentiator, currently, is Quality of Management that can deliver Performance Excellence.

Performance Excellence requires, amongst others: visionary leadership, customer-driven strategy, agile processes, best practices, next practices, benchmark results.

Qimpro has 30 years consulting and training experience in Managing for Quality; and 20 years in Quality of Management (Performance Excellence). Based on this experience, Qimpro has developed a digital learning offering, Performance Excellence Pro.

At Qimpro, we believe in demystification of principles and concepts. We further believe that this is best accomplished through stories. We call these stories Quality Fables™.
